UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM
C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

THE FIN DE SIECLE DAMSEL.

She has hair that is fluffy, straight, banged or half curled;
Has a parasol, oft by her deft fingers twirled.
She has eyes either brown or black, gray or true blue;
Has a neat fitting glove and a still neater shoe.
She has cheeks that make bitter the envious rose.
She has trunks upon trunks of the costliest clothes.

She has jewels that shine as the stars do at night,
And she dances as Ariel dances—or might.
She's accustomed to sitting on rocks in the glen.
She's also accustomed to sitting on men.
There's not much in her brain, but there's heaven in her smile.
Her profession is love, and she flirts all the while.

A BICYCLE THIEF.

A certain news agency had telegraphed abroad the report that I am in Switzerland, not for the benefit of my health, but for the purpose of stealing bicycles, and they added that I was an expert thief, and, for a time at least, I had succeeded in baffling the most praiseworthy attempts of the police of two towns to capture me.

While this statement is naturally flattering to me it is nevertheless a libel, and, in fact, if I cared to use strong language I might go so far as to take the last syllable away from the word "libel."

The whole trouble arose through Switzerland not having a proper language of its own, that hilly country preferring to express what few thoughts it has in a mixture of French, German and Italian, depending on what particular canton you happen to be in. They say that the Swiss are natural linguists. Unfortunately they are. Any combination of sounds you may make means something to any Swiss to whom you happen to be talking, for he knows so many languages that you are sure to hit one of them, and so you convey ideas to him that you had no thought of expressing.

October weather is lovely in Switzerland. Most of the visitors have then gone, prices come down one-half, and the air is sweet and cool, with usually a cloudless sky.

Under these circumstances I thought it would be a nice thing, as the roads were good and the scenery picturesque, to take a bicycle tour right around Lake Thun, beginning at the town which gives the lake its name, going around the north side of the lake to Interlaken and returning by the south shore.

The hotel keeper told me that if I went up the street, turned to the right, went under an arcade until I came to a tunnel, penetrated that and emerged on another street, turned to the left and kept on I would come to the shop of a man who would let me have a bicycle on hire by the day or the hour. I followed the directions as closely as possible and thought I recognized the shop because a bicycle was leaning against the wall. The owner was leaning against the doorway, looking at the bicycle outside. The following conversation in many languages took place between us:

"Haben sie un bicyclette a louer?" I opened on him with the above impartial mixture of German and French. It seems he understood me to ask if that was his bicycle, whereupon he replied in four languages:

"Yaw, yaw, oui, yes, so."

Then, throwing in a bit of Italian, I led off with:

"Quanta costa la machine a la hoor, oder per tag?"

Now, I submit that to any educated person, or even to a university man, this sentence said as plainly as print, "How much do you want for this machine by the hour or the day?" I tried afterward to get the magistrate to see this, but he, not knowing Italian, shied at the very beginning of the phrase. The owner of the bicycle on oath declares that he thought I asked how much the bicycle had cost him. He says that he answered he paid 500 francs for that brute of a machine, made in France, while I understood him to agree to let me have it for 5 francs a day, which was cheap. I was in a hurry to be off and was afraid he might repent his offer, so I said it was all right, and I would take it, whereupon, without further parley, I wheeled the bicycle into the middle of the road, sprang on its back and was off, leaving the astonished man standing by his door, too thunderstruck, it seems, to make any outcry until I had passed beyond his sight at the first turning of the road.

I pedaled serenely on, little realizing what a commotion I had left behind me, and the one funny thing about this most regrettable episode is that I spent an exceedingly quiet, peaceful and enjoyable day, not knowing I was pursued, making no attempt to elude anybody and yet eluding them in what appeared afterward to be by subtle and crafty dodges. The magistrate could not be persuaded that my sitting on the veranda of a restaurant in the main street of Interlaken, with the bicycle in plain view of everybody, was not the brazen act of a hardened criminal, who knew the police would be searching for him in the back streets.

When the man standing against the doorway had recovered partly from his amazement at my sudden flight on his machine, he rushed to the police station and told the authorities there a plausible foreigner had engaged him in polite Ollendorfian conversation, and, while his mind was distracted in trying to follow his remarks, had seized the opportunity and also the machine and was at that moment making his way to the north road toward Interlaken.

Now, capture under these circumstances seemed to be deliciously easy. There were no branching off roads. The mountains were on one side and the lake on the other, on neither side of which was bicycling practicable. Therefore all the two policemen had to do, when they mounted their machines, was to ride faster than I did, and so overtake me. As I had no idea that a race was on, I plunged along in a leisurely manner and would undoubtedly have been taken near Interlaken if it had not been for the fact that some years ago a company built a funicular railway from the margin of the lake a mile or so up to St. Beatenburg. I had lived in St. Beatenburg once, and I remembered that the road from there to Interlaken was a good one, so I thought that perhaps it would not be a bad plan to go up on the railway and coast down to Interlaken. I knew a man who had done it once. I can well believe now that no one ever tries it the second time. The car goes up to St. Beatenburg three or four times a day only, but when a couple of miles away from the landing I saw a steamer coming in, and I knew if I reached the landing about the time she did I would get a car.

I am not a racer, but I thereupon put in my best licks to make connection with the mountain railway. The road at this point is as level as the lake itself and only a few feet above it. My thoughts turned to the railway because I knew that beyond the lower end of it the carriage road rose high above the lake, passed through several tunnels and then went down to the Interlaken plain. By taking the up car I would avoid all this and have it down hill all the way. The policemen, it seems, caught sight of me as I was making my spurt, and they at once put on extra steam, but there is a deep bay just before one reaches the funicular, and they lost sight of me as I turned the point. I had reached the top of the railway funicular, and I bicycled the mile or more along the street, high up above the lake, on one side of which is scattered the village of St. Beatenburg, with its wonderful view of the snow mountains—the Jungfrau, the Eiger, the Monch and a host of others.

I found the ride down the zigzag road not such fun as I had expected. I saw the brake was not going to last if I kept on, so I had to walk most of the way down. Coming to a more level ground, I cycled gently into Interlaken, making for the place where they sell Munich beer, and there, over a mug and a sandwich on the main street, I made my frugal lunch, with the bicycle standing against a pillar of the veranda.

After a smoke I proceeded out of Interlaken and took the south road that borders the lake. This road is not so good for cycling as the other, being much more hilly, while the roadbed is more stony. I therefore walked a good deal, taking it very leisurely, and in course of time I was overtaken by a policeman, who also was wheeling his machine. He asked me if I had met a man on a bicycle coming from Thun, and I told him quite truly that I had not.

He seemed discouraged and told me all about the bicycle theft and the arrest of the wrong man. He feared the thief had hidden in the forest until he and his comrade went past and then perhaps took the steamer across the lake, or the villain might merely have pretended to take the north road, while in reality he went by the south. Thus the policeman hoped to meet him yet. I promised to keep a lookout, and the officer went on.

When I reached Thun and came to the place where I got the bicycle, I found the man was in Interlaken, and his wife, who knew all about the robbery, was amazed to see the thief return the machine and place 5 francs and his thanks on the counter.

I regret to say that the apparent honesty of this action did not commend itself to the authorities. They looked on it as the ruse of a crafty scoundrel, who realized that, so vigilant were the police, it was impossible for him to escape, and so endeavored to throw dust in the eyes of the wise men of the place. I therefore had to pay the expenses of the chase and apologize to everybody concerned.

Thus the bicycle, at 5 francs a day, was not so cheap as I had at first supposed.—Luke Sharp in Detroit Free Press.

The Preacher Performed His Part.

It has long been a matter of controversy how far the end justifies the means in getting money for good purposes. There are occasionally found people who object to the extortion of a church fair where you get in for 25 cents and out for $25, and who say that the raffle of a charity bazaar differs from no other gambling except that nobody but the directors ever win the prize quilts. A gambler from Ohio, who had made a big fortune in a saloon and faro bank, says that last winter he attended a colored church in Florida where the preacher announced that a special blessing would be asked for all contributors. One brother put in a dime. "De Lord bless Brer Jones!" exclaimed the preacher. "Brer Johnson, God bless you for that quartah." When it came to the gambler, he fished out a $20 bill. "What name?" asked the almost breathless collector. "It doesn't matter. I am a gambler from Ohio." "Gamblah from Ohio!" shouted the collector. The pastor rolled up his eyes and dropped on his knees: "Twenty dollars from de gamblah from Ohio! May de good Lawd prosper him in his business!"—New Orleans Picayune.

The Alaska Boundary.

Alaska was not much thought of at the time of its purchase, and there is a tradition that the money we paid for it really reimbursed Russia for other good offices of hers in our behalf. But now it is seen to have been worth far more than it cost. It is likely that we do not know as yet anything like the full measure of its possibilities. It is worth retaining to the extremest boundary. Britain knows something of its value, as she knew that of the Columbia river years ago. We should know enough about boundary problems by this time to defend our own without shrinking or carelessness.

It is not probable that the Alaska case ever will come to arbitration. It will be settled, like the Maine and Oregon boundary disputes, by negotiation and a treaty, and the United States will lose no territory.—Portland Oregonian.

BANISHED FOR LIFE.

THE OUTCAST OF CHURCH ISLAND IN GREAT SALT LAKE.

He Has For Years Lived the Life of a Wild Man and Rarely Sees a Human Being Branded For Robbing the Dead by Order of Governor Brigham Young.

In the center of the Great Salt lake in Utah is a large body of land known as Church island. This land consists of mountains and valleys, with trees and vegetation, and has always been used as a herding ground for cattle belonging to the Mormon church. Several years ago the water on the east side of the island was shallow and cattle could be driven across easily, but now the water is deep and everything must be conveyed to and from the land in boats. A distance of about two miles covered with salt water must be gone over by canoes to get to or from the island. On this famous spot, amid millions of pelicans, sea gulls and other fowls, wanders a lonely old man, without clothing and devoid of language or any of the instincts of humanity. He was banished years ago by the Mormon church on the charge of robbing the dead.

Jean Baptiste was a Frenchman who came to Salt Lake City a young man nearly 40 years ago. He grew up among the saints, and, after marrying, was made sexton of the small cemetery. His duties were light and his remuneration correspondingly small. He resided in a little cabin on the mountain side overlooking the city, and spent his time, when not employed in the cemetery, in collecting junk and trading and trafficking with a few Jewish secondhand clothes dealers who had the hardihood to engage in business among the Mormons. A regiment of United States troops was then camped near the city, and the gentiles engaged in business were assured protection.

The little Frenchman was an avaricious man and was noticeable because of his picking up every cast away article and carrying it to his home. Old dry goods boxes, barrels, tin cans and other packing articles cast away by the soldiers were especially well cared for by Jean Baptiste, the sexton. He dressed as a scavenger and resembled the modern saloon loafer, who is always searching the slums for barrels and boxes of garbage and cast off garments. The actions of the sexton created some comment, and not a little curiosity was aroused among people who had occasion to visit his residence on the mountain side, over the city.

One day Jean appeared on the streets dressed in an elegant suit of broadcloth. A few days before a wealthy stranger had died and was buried in the cemetery. The suit in which the body was dressed resembled that worn by the sexton. An examination was ordered, and the corpse was found to have been robbed of its clothing. A committee waited upon the sexton and made a most startling discovery. The graveclothes of over 200 persons were found in the baskets and boxes stowed away in his ghoulish cabin. Excitement ran high in Salt Lake City. The boxes of clothing were emptied and the contents taken to the city hall, where many a fond mother identified the burial robes of her child. Elegant silk dresses, at that time a luxury even to the rich, were found in the various bundles. The man was arrested and cast into jail, pursued by a mob who sought his life.

Brigham Young, then governor and general dictator in Utah, ordered the man to be branded with a hot iron and banished to Church island. During the quiet hour of midnight Jean Baptiste was taken from the jail, and his whole forehead was seared with the following inscription: "Branded For Robbing the Dead." Two men escorted the quivering, naked form from the city of vengeance. A canoe was entered near the city, and the doomed prisoner was taken in chains to the island which in future was to be his home. Without clothing or food he was landed upon the shore, the boat returned to the mainland, and the ghoul remained a hopeless exile. He could not leave the island, because instant death would follow should he be seen by any of the inhabitants of the Mormon land of Zion. He was forced to seek food and shelter amid wild animals, the birds and reptiles.

The island was soon known as the land of banishment. People shunned its shores as they would a haunted house. Many persons were lost upon the lake while rowing in canoes against heavy winds. The general supposition of all was that those unfortunates drifted to the island and were devoured by the wild man. Even the fearless cowboy has ever refused to intrude upon the home land of the exile. Wild horses roam over its acres of broken canyons, rugged cliffs and grassy meadows. The sea gulls and other birds find a home undisturbed on the deserted shores. All the natives, including Indians, warn newcomers of the fate of scores of pleasure seekers who have been drifted upon the shores of the fated island. The crags, bluffs, dark caverns and lonely canyons warn every boatman nearing the shore to keep away from the hidden dangers.

In a dark cave about half a mile from the shore lives the wild man. His home is strewn with the wrecks of boats, bones of victims and other cannibalistic indications. Away back in the deep darkness of the cavern is his sleeping place, made of clothing stripped from unfortunate victims shipwrecked on the fatal shore. A collection of leaves, grasses and branches from the trees of the island forms the foundation for the bed, in which this human monster spends most of his time. Several hunters and explorers have recently viewed the man. He is described as old, stooping, destitute of clothing, incapable of speech and covered with long hair. Upon the appearance of man he utters a wild, weird shriek and rushes to the cavern, from which he cannot be induced or forced to return.—San Francisco Examiner.

THAT COMET.

The latest report from star-gazers is that the Perrine comet, which has been approaching the earth at the terrific speed of 1,600,000 miles a day, has turned tail and is now rushing the other way. This will greatly relieve the minds of nervous people, as the visitor was scheduled by astronomers to arrive yesterday. However, comets are very erratic and there is no telling what this latest one may take it into its tail to do. It is about an even chance that it will take another turn about and yet collide with this mundane sphere and annihilate every living thing. This being so, it behooves all sinners to be prepared for the worst, to the end that when they schuffle off St. Peter give them a friendly greeting at the gates of heaven. About the hardest cases we know of are our delinquent subscribers. The tail of that comet may get them yet. However, even these are not beyond redemption. By squaring up with the printer man they will stand the devil off dead sure.

RAISING OF THE BEAR FLAG.

In the hurry and worry that have attended the getting of the Teachers' Institute for Sonoma the matter of the Bear Flag celebration has been overlooked by some. So far as is known no active steps have been taken preparatory to such a celebration, but this does not signify that there is no intention of having the same. If the Institute will help Sonoma the semi-centennial celebration will also help her, and what is more bring people into the valley from remote regions. Still, this is a matter that should not be considered in the light of utility alone. It is Sonoma's duty to see that this great event in the history of herself and that of the State is properly observed. A meeting of the citizens should be called at once, and sufficient notice should be given so that there will be a full attendance. A committee should be appointed to confer with the Grand Parlor of the Native Sons, with the Pioneers, with the Governor, with the Volunteer Firemen throughout the State, with the cities of the State and with the Federal officers of the State. It should be a grand State celebration. There should be representatives from Modoc to San Diego. But in order that such a gathering may be possible it is necessary that work be commenced immediately.

SANTA ROSA is preparing for another spasm, the Rose Carnival. Beauty is to be valued, reckoned and rewarded by the number of nickles it can bring into the general fund. Though the idea of the Carnival is excellent, the celebration would be more chaste, more in keeping with the idea that gave it birth, if the contest for the throne of flowers was conducted in a manner more in accord with the common and necessary ideas of courtesy and right.

A series of articles on the Russian River settlement has been appearing in the Santa Rosa Democrat. The writer, the Hon. R. M. Thompson, is eminently fitted to hold forth on the history of this county and region. We hope that this series may not prove the end of a work that he is specially gifted to perform.

THE Healdsburg Enterprise has entered upon the twentieth year of its existence. Fearless and fair in its expressions and withal a good local paper it is deserving of support at the hands of the people of the Russian River country. We wish the Enterprise all those good things that falls to the lot of the successful country newspaper.

Beware of Counterfeiters

Who infest the market and are the means of robbing sick people of their money, and what is of still greater consequence of not unfrequently aggravating the complaints under which they labor. It is an act of duty we owe to society to warn the people against these dangerous frauds. A little care on the part of the purchaser will protect them from imposition by bearing in mind these facts: Never buy where it is offered in bulk, (in kegs or jugs) as the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are sold only in bottles having the handsome steel plate label displaying the combat between St. George and the Dragon, and having at the bottom a minature note of hand for one cent, bearing a facsimile of the signature of the president of the company. Over the cork is a metallic cap, on which is impressed the name of the article, together with a medallion head in the center. Any person selling the counterfeit Hostetter's Stomach Bitters we shall not hesitate to bring to justice, as we never fail to convict.

More

Medicinal value in a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other preparation.

More skill is required, more care taken, more expense incurred in its manufacture. It costs the proprietor and the dealer

More but it costs the consumer less, as he gets more doses for his money.

More curative power is secured by its peculiar combination, proportion and process, which makes it peculiar to itself.

More people are employed and more space occupied in its Laboratory than any other.

More wonderful cures effected and more testimonials received than by any other.

More sales and more increase year by year are reported by druggists.

More people are taking Hood's Sarsaparilla today than any other, and more are taking it today than ever before.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

THE ASSAULT CASE.

Defendants to be Tried Separately.

The case of the People vs. Frank Burris and Henry Bates, charged with assault to do great bodily harm upon the person of Clark Gaines, was called in the Superior Court at Santa Rosa yesterday afternoon. Fred. T. Duhring of this place and A. G. Burnett of Santa Rosa are representing the defense and Assistant District Attorney Butts and O. O. Webber are conducting the prosecution. The case is being tried by Judge Dougherty.

Thirty-eight witnesses have already been subpœnaed from this place to testify in the case, which has been the all-absorbing topic of conversation upon the streets of Sonoma the past few months.

It was decided among the attorneys on Thursday to try the defendants separately, Frank Burris to be tried first.

LATER.

Burris Acquitted Last Night---Bates to be Discharged.

Frank Burris was acquitted last night at 10 o'clock on grounds of self defense. The case against Bates will be dismissed.

SPRING WEATHER.

Hay and Grain Growing Rapidly —Good Outlook for Fruit.

The weather the past week has been all that could be desired by our farmers. The thermometer has varied between 60 and 85 degrees in the shade and vegetation of every kind is growing rapidly for March. Hay and grain never looked better at this time of the year. Sonoma Valley orchards also give promise of a fine crop of fruit. It was feared that the snow and frost of two weeks ago had injured the early fruit, but aside [PRUNE]cots and peaches little [damage] done. Of the latter [crop] more than a half crop, [perhaps], but few of which [are grown] this valley, will be [a fail]ure. There will [be a] Sonoma however, of cherries, [and] and all other kinds [of] building. The present season will [be a] prosperous one for Sonoma [Valley], if we escape, as we usually [do], the late frosts which annually [injure] most sections of California.

FREDERICK [illegible]
Attorney [illegible]
OFFICE IN SONOMA building

Another Railroad Suit.

Sydney V. Smith has filed a petition under section 315 of the Civil Code in the Superior Court of San Francisco, asking that P. N. Lilienthal be enjoined from acting as a director in the San Francisco and North Pacific railroad, on the grounds that the said Sydney V. Smith and not P. N. Lilienthal, was elected a director of said road. This, of course, involves the validity of the contract of Smith, Markham and Foster to consolidate and vote their stock together as a unit, which contract was drawn up and signed by Smith. It is the old question up in new form.

Fine Oranges and Lemons.

If any one doubts that Sonoma Valley is as well adapted to the cultivation and growth of citrus fruits as Southern California or Florida a visit to the orange and lemon groves in various parts of the valley will soon despel the doubt. E. H. Wickersham of Temelec Hall laid upon our table this week a box of oranges and lemons that would be hard to beat for beauty, size and flavor. The principal orange and lemon groves of Sonoma Valley are those of E. H. Wickersham, A. T. Lewis, Mrs. C. C. Carriger, Jas. McMackin and Mrs. Emparan, all of which are thrifty and free from scale.

Ex-County Treasurer Tupper.

George F. Tupper of Santa Rosa, one of Sonoma county's most popular ex-county officials, ought to have been renominated for the office of Trustee of that city. He has made the past two years a most efficient and honest official, and it is to be regretted that he has been made the victim of political schemers. The fact of the matter is George F. Tupper is too honest in purpose and too independent in spirit to be used as a tool by designing politicians. If Sonoma county had a few more men like Mr. Tupper it would be a mighty good thing for the tax payers.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Sonoma vs. Healdsburg—The Board of Education to Decide the Matter.

Three of the Five Members Said to Favor Sonoma.

Another committee of citizens waited upon Superintendent Davis last Monday to still further urge Sonoma's claims to the Teachers' Institute. This last committee was composed of Dr. A. E. Osborne, A. A. Enke, Granville Harris, Hugh Maxwell, Martin Muldry, R. M. Sims, W. E. Thomas, M. K. Cady and D. D. Davisson.

They were well received by Superintendent Davis, who stated that he had not committed himself to Healdsburg, Sonoma or any other town in the county. He stated that Healdsburg had entered the race to secure the Institute some two months before Sonoma got a move on, and he did not care to assume the responsibility of deciding the question. However, he would promise the people of Sonoma that if they were willing to let Healdsburg have the Institute this year, that he would give it to them next year.

M. K. Cady, one of the committee, objected to such an arrangement. He wanted it this year or not at all.

Superintendent Davis thereupon referred the whole matter to the County Board of Education which meets in Santa Rosa to-day. It is said that three out of the five members favor Sonoma.

If that be so the Institute is ours.

Among other inducements held out by our people to secure the Institute are the following :

First—A round trip rate of 90 cents on the Southern Pacific from Santa Rosa to Sonoma, including free transportation to and from El Verano, and a special train to leave Santa Rosa at 10:30 A. M., Monday of the Institute week.

Second—A rate on the San Francisco and North Pacific road of full fare one way and one-third fare for return trip.

Third — Ample accommodations at hotels and private houses. The hotels offer a rate of $1.25 a day, single meals 25 cents. The private houses offer a maximum rate of $1 a day for board and lodging.

Fourth—For the entertainment of the teachers and their friends the citizens of Sonoma will tender the visitors a reception, music and a concert under the supervision of Hugh G. Maxwell, drives in Sonoma Valley, a presentation of "The Merchant of Venice" by the pupils of the Sonoma Valley Union High School and a grand ball at Sonoma.

To all of these attractions the teachers and their friends are cordially invited and to all of which admission will be free.

Fifth—In addition to the above entertainment, Dr. A. E. Osborne has promised to entertain the teachers one day of the institute at the Home for Feeble Minded Children at Eldridge, four miles distant from Sonoma. On this day he will entertain visitors with an exhibition and performance by the inmates of the home, show them through the home and provide a first class lunch.

Sixth—Free hall and free music during the entire session.

Another Relic of the Boom.

Among the defendants named in the foreclosure proceedings recently instituted against the Kenwood Land Company, which was organized some years ago for "booming" Sonoma Valley, is a Mr. Kersten of San Francisco. He purchased a piece of land from the company, paying $2,500 down and only owing a balance of $750. As there was a mortgage of $50,000 or $60,000 on the lands held by the company they could not give a deed and in consequence Mr. Kersten, together with over a hundred other purchasers, will lose their entire investment. When these "boom" schemes were turned loose in this community several years ago by designing men the INDEX-TRIBUNE incurred their displeasure because it would not "stand in." Who will now dare gainsay all that this paper has said in the past about the several disreputable land schemes inaugurated in this valley to fleece the unwary. The INDEX-TRIBUNE is of the people and for the people first, last and all the time. No combination, clique or clan can control its columns for any purpose whatsoever. It is published to give the news without fear or favor and to make known to the outside world one of the most lovely valleys in California.

Heavy Wine Shipment.

T. S. Glaister and Otto Wagner of the Green Oaks Vineyards have shipped to San Francisco, over the S. F. & N. P. Railway, the past two weeks, 29,000 gallons of white and red wine. Twelve carloads more are to be shipped. The wine is consigned to Chevalier & Co.

MOONSHINE BRANDY.

Bolle's Ranch and Winery Seized by Internal Revenue Officers

Henry Bolle, the well-known viticulturist of Los Guilicos, is in trouble. On Thursday last U. S. Internal Revenue Officers made a descent on his wine cellar and distillery and discovered 700 gallons of illicit brandy in packages stowed away among the tanks of wine.

Certain irregularities about Bolle's place had reached the ears of the officers and headed by Special Agent Cromwell they raided the cellar. The ranch and everything on it was subsequently seized by Deputy Collector Buckingham. The value of the ranch and improvements is said to be over $25,000.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

And Other Matters of Interest to the General Reader.

[Contributed by Marjorie Dow.]

Items of a personal and social nature are thankfully received at this office and will be edited by Marjorie Dow.

The wedding of Miss Grace Shaw and Mr. W. H. Williams took place last Thursday at noon at the home of the bride's parents on Broadway. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. King of Napa in the presence of the relatives and a few friends of the contracting parties. The bride is the second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Shaw of this place. The groom is a well-known young farmer of Livermore Valley. The parlors of the Shaw residence were prettily decorated with flowers and ferns in honor of the event and many useful presents were received. An elegant mid-day dinner was served, after which the young couple took the train for an extended trip to Southern California.

Plenty of matches in every room are signs of good housekeeping. Who has not felt the aggravation of hunting all over the house for a match? Matches need frequent replenishing. Everybody takes them. It is a good plan to give one daughter the duty of seeing that the match-boxes are always filled.

Arbor Day was celebrated by the students of the High School yesterday. A large number of visitors were present and helped to plant the trees, flowers and shrubs. The exercises opened with an address by Hon. Robt. Howe, after which an oak tree, a moss rose, ivy vine and a tea rose were planted with appropriate ceremonies by Misses Zarifa Howe, Sadie Cady, Elsie Appleton and Cecilia Granice. The visitors were then invited to participate in the general planting. If all the trees, plants and shrubs that were planted thrive the High School property will present a pretty appearance.

Beef Croquettes.—One cup of chopped cold beef, one cup of bread crumbs, one egg well beaten, a pinch of salt, pepper and a tiny bit of sage. Moisten the bread crumbs with a little gravy or stock, then mix thoroughly, form in cakes and dip in egg and cracker crumbs and fry in boiling lard.

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, MARCH 14, 1896.

GOT MARRIED ON CREDIT.

Lack of Money Was No Impediment to the Student and His Bride.

The city registrar's office in the old courthouse is the scene of one or two marriages daily, and amusing incidents frequently occur. Perhaps the most peculiar case that has come up recently, an account of which was related to a reporter a few days ago, is that of a Harvard student who was in love and without funds. The love conquered his pride, and he concluded to investigate the matter with a view of getting married on trust. He made his appearance at the desk in the registrar's office and inquired if that was the place where he could procure a marriage certificate and also get married. He was informed that it was, and a blank application was handed to him, which he proceeded to fill out.

After this proceeding was gone through with he looked up, and, in a hesitating manner, asked the clerk if he could have a few moments' private conversation with him. He was taken into the anteroom, and this is the tale he unfolded: He said that he was deeply in love with a young lady, and that she was also very much in love with him. But her parents had serious objections to the match and did all that was in their power to break it off. They had closed their doors on him; but, notwithstanding this, he succeeded in arranging meetings with his heart's choice, and during one of these he proposed marriage to her and was accepted, he arguing that if they were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony nothing, not even her stern parents, could separate them. They had arranged the details and concluded that the only thing to be done was to get married in secret and then separate until he should graduate from his college. She, of course, would go back to her home and live with her parents as if nothing out of the general run of events had happened.

But the young man, being without funds, was in a dilemma, and the worst of it was he could not see his way clear to procure the necessary amount to pay for the certificate and ceremony. His home was in a western state, and he received an allowance from his father only once in six months. It was not due for nearly two months. He concluded that his only course was to try the method referred to above. The clerk, being a kind hearted man, told the youth that he would perform the ceremony and trust him for the pay, provided the lady in question was of age. The next day the couple put in an appearance and were married. Upon the arrival of the next allowance from his parent the youth walked into the office one day, made himself known and presented the clerk a $10 bill.—Boston Herald.

WATER SNAKE FIGHTS EEL.

Terrific Combat Which Finally Ended In the Eel's Escape.

"Did you ever know that there is a deadly antipathy between a common water snake and an eel?" asked the fisherman. "Well, I never knew it until an experience that I had in witnessing a fight between the two. Personally I have the greatest dread of eels. I'm more afraid of them than I am of a snake, and you can imagine my chagrin when I happened to hook one on one of my fishing expeditions. I was afraid to touch it, and all I could do was to let it dangle in the air. I could not get it off my hook, and I was meditating what to do, when, altogether unnoticed, I allowed the slimy object to drop down into the water.

"In a moment I saw a big water snake make a dive for it. At the first lunge it caught the neck of the eel squarely between its teeth, and I could see it sink its ugly looking fangs into the eel's flesh. I waited anxiously to see the developments. With its grim hold still on the eel's neck the snake, quick as it takes to tell it, wrapped its sinuous body around its antagonist's neck in an effort to squeeze it to death. The body of the eel was too sleek, however, and the snake's coils, despite all it could do, would slip down into the water. Time and time again it tried to squeeze the life out of its antagonist, never for an instant releasing its hold on the eel's neck, but the body of the latter was too sleek for it and every time it would slip down. Finally the hook broke and the eel made good its escape."—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Oil and Water,

"I'm very unfortunate," said the young artist.

"You are deficient in one important quality," replied his candid friend.

"What is that?"

"Tact. When Mr. Greesem came to see you about a portrait, you never stopped to think that he made his fortune out of a lucky streak in kerosene."

"Never."

"And you told him he ought to have his picture done in oil, and he didn't leave the order."

"That's so."

"And when Mr. Skimker, who has prospered as a dairyman, called at your studio, you rushed from Scylla to Charybdis and advised him to be done up in water colors. You're a good painter, my boy, but what you need is discretion."—Washington Star.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

A German Custom.

One of the most interesting functions of the np to date betrothal is the shopping expedition, where the two mothers and fathers-in-law to be, with their respective son and daughter, go out on an appointed morning and bring home a broom, a carving knife and fork, a salt cellar, a Bible, a brass door knocker, a candlestick, a pair of bellows. This is a revival of an old German custom of presenting a young pair with what they consider the seven emblems of those virtues that go to make up a perfect household. The shopping party is concluded by a luncheon of the united families.

Put to Strange Use.

The old bell which in early days stood on Belfry hill, north of the town of Council Grove, Kan., and was rung to warn the settlers of the approach of Indians, is now used by a citizen as a flowerpot in his garden. For many years after its original purpose was gone it was the common property of the various religious denominations of the town and was rung to call the people to devotions. One day it was blown down in a storm and broken This destroyed its usefulness as a bell, and the citizen sat it inverted in his garden and planted flowers in it.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Fame.

"Mr. Speaker," exclaimed a member of the New South Wales parliament, "my colleague taunts me with a desire for fame. I scorn the imputation, sir! Fame, sir! What is fame? It is a shaved pig with a greased tail, which slips through the hands of thousands and then is accidentally caught by some lucky fellow who happens to hold on to it. I let the greasy tailed quadruped go by me without an effort to clutch it, sir!"—London Tit-Bits.

PRICKLY ASH, POKE ROOT AND POTASSIUM

Makes Marvelous Cures in Blood Poison Rheumatism and Scrofula

P. P. P. purifies the blood, builds up the weak and debilitated, gives strength to weakened nerves, expels diseases, giving the patient health and happiness where sickness, gloomy feelings and lassitude first prevailed.

For primary, secondary and tertiary syphilis, for blood poisoning, mercurial poison, malaria, dyspepsia, and in all blood and skin diseases, like blotches, pimples, old chronic ulcers, tetter, scald head, boils, erysipelas, eczema—we may say, without fear of contradiction, that P. P. P. is the best blood purifier in the world, and makes positive, speedy and permanent cures in all cases.

Ladies whose systems are poisoned and whose blood is in an impure condition, due to menstrual irregularities, are peculiarly benefited by the wonderful tonic and blood cleansing properties of P. P. P.—Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium.

SPRINGFIELD, MO., Aug. 14th, 1893.
—I can speak in the highest terms of your medicine from my own personal knowledge. I was affected with heart disease, pleurisy and rheumatism for 35 years, was treated by the very best physicians and spent hundreds of dollars, tried every known remedy without finding relief. I have only taken one bottle of your P. P. P., and can cheerfully say it has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I can recommend your medicine to all sufferers of the above diseases.

$1800.00 GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS.

$150.00 every month given away to any one who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.
We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors to keep track of their bright ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, "sauce-pan," "collar-button," "nut-lock," "bottle-stopper," and a thousand other little things that most any one can find a way of improving; and these simple inventions are the ones that bring largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.

IT IS NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in the interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to this journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We also advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $150 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the invention.
